The President's Message

It is an honor to hold the top office of the Numismatic Association of Southern California. I want to thank you for your trust in me and I will fulfill the duties of this office to the best of my ability.

As in the past, NASC had a successful year. The fifth annual Club Workshop and second Collector-Dealer Forum were professionally presented and even though attendance was smaller than hoped for it was good. The District Representative program initiated during 1975 proved to be effective. All of these mid-year programs were begun to improve relationships within the hobby.

In spite of conflict of dates with Long Beach, the Bicentennial 21 Convention was a success. Attendance was up over 1975 by about 30%. Eight more dealers could have been accommodated but quality standards were not lowered to fill tables. The Educational Forum had almost a full house as were group meetings. The Exhibit Room had over fifty fine displays. The Auction held by Bowers and Ruddy was one of the finest ever held anywhere. The U.S. Postal Service branch office was patronized by many. The girls who manned the message center did a "bang-up" job. They helped make the convention run more smoothly. It was nice to have the Franklin Mint back, it is hoped they will return next year.

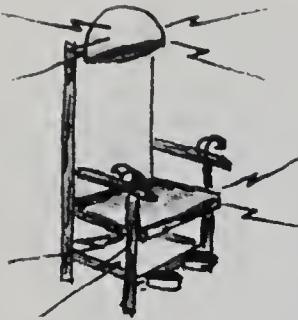

It would be nice to give recognition to everyone who made this possible but this is not practical. However I would like to thank Abe Kosoff, Ralph "Curly" Mitchell, Mel Wacks, Virgil Hancock, Eva Adams, Joel Malter and Mike Kliman for their special efforts. A "Special Thank You" to Maury Gould for his arranging for most of these speakers before he became ill.

THE COMING YEAR 1976-1977

The officers you elected and the committee people appointed for the coming year are capable, enthusiastic, and dedicated hard workers. They will do the best they can to continue the precepts established in the past. All feel honored in having been selected for a job. A few new thoughts may be presented to the board for consideration.

The theme for the new year will be "AMISTAD CON MEXICO A TRAVE'S DE NUMISMATICAS." (I hope this is acceptable span-

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Hello out there! Here we are at the end of another convention and the start of another year of NASC activities. As I write this, things are a bit "up in the air" and I've no idea when or where our 1977 convention will be held. The Calendar Of Events listing on cover-page 4 will probably have the correct info for that and for the schedule of Board Meetings also (if all goes well in the next week or so). If things don't settle down in time, the next issue will have the full scoop for sure.

THANX !

To those of you who showed their confidence in me by electing me to another term on the Board of Governors, I say thank you. To all of you, I say that I will try to work for the best interests of the Association to the best of my abilities.

COMMENTS ANYONE ?

I would like to include a fairly regular "Letters To The Editor" section—provided, of course, that someone takes the time and trouble to write me. Possible topics might be pro's or con's concerning any of the NASC activities, or concerning the Quarterly itself (for example, how do you like this year's cover design?— it is symbolic of Pres. Ray's theme for the year), or concerning any news or features contained herein, or whatever.

KUDOS

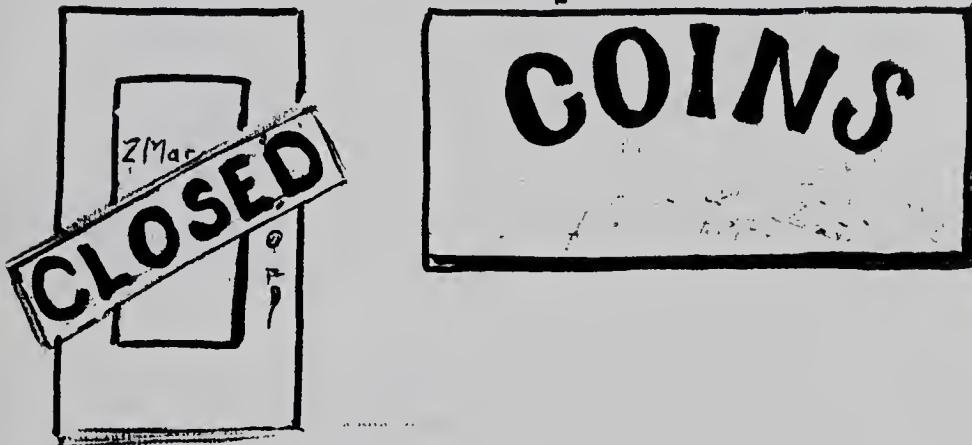

As I said in the last issue, we miss Maury Gould and will continue to remember and appreciate all his contributions. In at least one area, however, it appears that an excellent successor has been found.

The Day The Coin Dealers Disappeared*

by Mel Wacks. NLG

Z. Marque Ltd.

One day the letters of complaint were no longer to be found in the columns of Coin World. One day the mailman's sack was not loaded with coins being returned to coin dealers around the country along with the usual irate comments - "Overgraded", "not nice enough", and "you guys are crooks."

And the ads disappeared too. The people who hated bar collecting were happy - there were no more bar ads. The people who hated medals were happy - there were no more medal ads. And so on, with plate haters, non-circulating coin haters, "fantasy coin haters," whizzer-haters, counterfeit haters, paper money haters, world coin haters . . . each overjoyed that they had won out at last.

Of course Coin World was not up to its previous form. For it was only 10 pages without the dealer ads. There were still a few trades offered in the classified column - some collector in Des Moines offering 2 rare Bicentennial Quarters for a 1909-S VDB plus 35 cents postage, and another oldtimer in New England offering a new $2 bill for two old dollar bills plus $2.50 for handling.

The upcoming dealerless ANA Convention is all set to be a rip-snorter. Collectors now don't have to waste all their time running around the bourse room, but can do what they really came for - walk up and down the hotel corridor looking for old friends. All the bourse-room space being saved means that the convention can be held in a much smaller hotel. The 1987 show will therefore be held in the linen closet of the downtown Oklahoma City Hacienda Hideaway.

Collectors still went to their local coin clubs but the meetings just weren't the same since no one could knock the local or national dealers.

*Originally presented by Mr. Wacks at the NASC collector-dealer Forum, 7 Dec. 1975.

A few weeks came to pass after the dealers had all closed their shops and gone into more lucrative employment like selling New York City bonds to the Chinese . . . and a few collectors finally got the urge to buy something. They could always turn to the United States Government's newly established Numismatic Investment and Sure Way To Get Rich Department, but just how many Carson City Dollars could one own? After the government's 127th bi-monthly auction there still were 74.6 million pieces remaining unsold!

Without anyone else to turn to, there was only one alternative the collectors had to deal with each other. This appeared to be no problem because, after all, the collectors all graded conservatively, never owned "sliders" or counterfeits, always had unlimited funds to buy with, and always told the truth. They wouldn't sell a coin at a profit for that wasn't the purpose of their hobby, and their coins never had microscopic hairline or edge nick that they wouldn't tell a fellow collector about. How do I know about these attributes - just ask an collector and he will tell you!

But then the trouble started. Rumor came through the grapevine that one collector in Albuquerque actually sold another collector, whom he happened to meet in a local bar, a coin that was purported to be Uncirculated. The dim lighting was said to be quite similar to many bourse rooms of the past, and when the new owner was able to re-examine his proud new purchase on the following day he did happen to notice a small gash across half the coin. Of course this was just rumor but the next time you are passing through the beautiful Watermelon mountains of New Mexico you might think twice before going into a bar.

There was another small story printed on page 3 of the Numismatist (which now has shrunk to 16 pages without dealers ads) of a check paid to one collector by another that bounced. But I wouldn't conclude that all collectors are bad just because of a few isolated incidents.

There is another story making the rounds that it took one collector of rare Overton variety half dollars 4½ years before finding another collector with a similar interest . . . and then it turned out that he was out of cash just then. Gee . . . collectors started to remember when dealers would buy coins even when they knew they might not see them for a while.

But then an amazing thing happened! A letter appeared in the Numismatic News written by a collector (who naturally chose to remain anonymous for his own safety) speaking almost fondly of those by-gone days when, pardon the expression, "dealers" were still around. Of course this letter was loudly criticized in the following weeks.

Two old friends were sitting in a bowling alley when they, after a long and searching discussion, decided secretly to help out an old friend who was in desperate need of money. They would buy his collection and put it away until possibly another friend would indicate

Collectors Profile

Richard Lebold, N.A.S.C. Vice President

By: Carol A. Linn

Our Vice President, Richard Lebold, spent his childhood in La Crosse, Wisconsin. During his junior college years the family moved to Port Huron, Michigan, where he attended college. Graduating from Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo with a BS in Industrial Supervision, Dick then went into the Navy for four years, spending most of his time at Miramar Naval Air Station in San Diego as a Radar Technician.

Dick's first interest in collecting was stamps, which he shared with his father. Coins were of importance only in checking through change received from his paper route, saving a few here and there. His attitude changed in 1967 when a family friend gave him sets of uncirculated cents, nickels and dimes. This prompted Dick to seriously pursue numismatics.

Medals were another of Dick's interests and he soon discovered the Franklin Mint, beginning with the History of the U.S. He now actively collects only commemorative medals and has subscribed to several series. During 1971 he became the sixth individual to receive an honorary life membership in the National Commemorative Society for the year's best exhibit.

During 1970 Dick joined the West Valley Coin Club, serving the club in various capacities and was President during 1975. He also holds memberships in the American Numismatic Association, Token and Medal Society, California State Numismatic Association, California Exonumist Society (currently serving CES as President), and the Society of Medalists. NASC was fortunate to have Dick serve as Exhibit Chairman in '75 as well as Assistant Exhibit Chairman to the ANA convention. This year COIN is utilizing his exhibit experience. Still interested in stamps, Dick maintains his membership with the American Philatelic Society.

Currently employed with Western Kraft in Cerritos as a Production Supervisor, Dick still finds time to attend Cerritos College in preparation for law school. Would you believe that somewhere in between there is room for interest in Antiques, Hunting, and Fishing? As a new resident of Orange County, Dick shares his interests and activities with his lovely wife Lorna and their six-months old son Brian. Needless to say, Brian has had a terrific start in numismatics, having attended several shows so far with his lucky parents.

NASC is very fortunate to have someone with Dick's enthusiastic attitude and loyal support serving as Vice President.

MAURICE M. GOULD JR. ACHIEVEMENT AWARD WINNER
DUFFY WALDORF -- Age 13

Duffy joined the Echo Park Coin Club in 1966, and served that club in various capacities for many years. He joined N.A.S.C. in 1970, Membership No. 1414, and is the only Junior Sustaining Member, No. SM-105.

His numismatic memberships include A.N.A., N.A.S.C., and C.S.N.A. He is also an active member of many local clubs, including Los Angeles Coin Club, Downey Numismatists, California Wooden Money Association, California Association of Token Collectors, and West Valley Coin Club.

He has served as a helper and runner at various local coin club and was a page at the 1975 A.N.A. Convention. During 1974, he attended meetings of more than 50 different clubs, and last January he was the installing officer at the California Wooden Money Association.

Among his other activities, he has a high academic record at Portola Junior High School, where he was also athlete of the month in 1974. In football, he was voted most valuable player of the White Oak Lion and most valuable player in the Toys-For-Tots Bowl. In baseball, he has twice set all-time league records for strike outs as a pitcher, and he also holds the all-time league record for highest batting average and most home runs. In bowling, he had the high game in his league for last year. In basketball, he was a member of the Los Angeles City Parks and Recreation Championship Team, and in golf he was fifth in the Los Angeles City Junior Tournament in 1975.

In 1975, he published an article in the N.A.S.C. Quarterly. As Numismatic exhibitor, he was the third place winner in U.S. Coins in 1969 at the age of 7. The following year, he took first place in that category, and has displayed at numerous local clubs and coin shows since that time. Among his major awards are:

A.N.A.—Best Display of Foreign Coins by a Junior, James I. Betton Award, 1975

C.S.N.A.—Invitational Exhibitor at 1973 Symposium

N.A.S.C.—Exhibitor, 1971; First Place, Junior Division 1972; First Place, Junior Division I, 1973; Invitation Exhibit, 1975

S.I.N.—Best European Display, 1975

C.O.I.N.—Debbie Jane Gould Award, Best Junior Exhibit 1973; Best European Dispaly, 1974; Second Place Junior Division, 1975.

NASC "BICENTENNIAL — 21" CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS

by J. H. McInnis, Jr.

NASC "came of age" with our Bicentennial—21st Convention and a joyful and successful one it was. By special arrangement, outgoing Pres. Dr. Sol Taylor was furnished a "Scandinavian Plate" at the Club Representative's Breakfast. Virgil Hancock, Pres. of ANA, gave an informal talk on ANA finances and "where the money goes".

The Auction was enthusiastically attended and the catalog of the first session's "Dundee Collection" ranks as one of the finest I have ever seen. The auction action is exemplified by Sol Taylor's rueful comment that he had made a bid of $40 on one item, thinking it a legitimate figure, only to see the coin sold for ten times that much.

The Forum was chaired this year by Mike Kliman who did a fine job—but I couldn't help thinking of Maury at times as the evening passed. Virgil Hancock, Eva Adams, and well-known dealer Joel Malter were the speakers.

Registration was the usual "feast or famine" situation with a good crowd overall, up from last year.

The Bourse rooms were attracting paying customers every time I looked in on them and the dealers I spoke to confirmed this.

Those who visited the Exhibit room were, in most cases, actually taking time to look at the exhibits (or at least at those whose subject matter interested them).

PRESIDENT-ELECT OF SIN SUCCUMBS

William Braithwaite, President-Elect of the Society for International Numismatics, was found dead from natural causes at his Corona del Mar residence January 2, 1976. A childless widower since 1963, it was two loyal numismatic friends who insisted that the police force entry to his house when they repeatedly could not contact him.

Braithwaite was to have been installed as President of SIN on January 24, 1976. In addition, he headed SIN's audio-visual slide program available to coin clubs.

He was a man with a varied life. Born in the Canal Zone, his father was a civilian physician stationed there during the building of the Panama Canal. Braithwaite used to recall his father's story of how the U.S. Government paid the doctors with gold coins and the nurses with silver. Bill, as he was usually called, had a lifelong professional and avocational interest in photography. In World War II, as an aerial photographer in the Air Force, he was shot down over China.

His coin collecting interests were universal as were his memberships in numismatic organizations. In addition to SIN, he was member of ANA, NASC, a loyal worker at COIN and numerous Southern California coin clubs including Downey, Lawndale, and Azteca.

Here was a man who gave much of his time to his hobby. An indefatigable worker, he was ready with a helping hand or shoulder. A big man, hearty, frequently with a cigar jauntily protruding from the corner of his mouth, he was a gentle giant with strong feelings and action for the right as he saw it. As a man with scholarly interests combined with technical capability, he was a person the Numismatic World can little afford to lose.

George L. Russell
Secretary, SIN

Mike Kliman carried through following Maury's death and presented an excellent Forum. He has agreed to be Moderator of next year's Convention Forum, also, and I am sure that we can count on a good one.

BRICK BATS

On several occasions within the past year, the Editor was publicly criticized for failing to print information that had never been sent to him. Don't assume that the Quarterly's crystal ball is working well, it's better if we receive two notices of an event than none at all—provided only that at least one of them arrives before the deadline. A notice received in January for a March event is no good if the next issue won't reach the readers before April. At least one listing in this issue's Calendar of Events was picked up from a news story in Coin World—the NASC member club sponsoring the event did not see fit to include NASC in its press-release mailing, apparently.

YE OLDE NOTICE

Your friendly editor is still attempting to assemble a complete file of back issues of the Quarterly for reference purposes. Through the kind assistance of several "oldtimers" I have collected copies of all but two issues. If anyone has a spare copy of either or both of the following issues that he or she would be willing to part with, please contact Ye Ed.:

First Quarter, 1965
Second Quarter, 1965

that he might like to buy it. A few months later the fellow that had sold them the coins got on his feet again and wanted to buy something new that had caught his fancy. The two friends happened to have seen pieces that interested him, and they made the sale.

Soon word got into the "Underground Numismatist" and other collectors in their home town approached the two friends to either buy or sell coins. Collectors passing through town started visiting them and they even began to get inquiries by mail.

Over the years other collectors started to get together to buy and sell coins to their friends and other acquaintances. But then . . . there was a lone letter in Coin World (which by that time was becoming fat with ads by collectors) . . . that said a collector had been late in delivering coins, that the coins were overgraded, and overpriced. The letter was signed "A. Dealer."

is hoped through our hobby, we can help cement friendly relationships with this country bordering the south of the United States. This could be a fun year. Already several people are making plans for the next convention. More will be said later.

In spite of any problems we are working for the goal of making this the "Best NASC year Yet."

Several other groups held meetings in conjunction with the NASC convention. Azteca, Calif. Exonumist Society, and SIN presented special programs at their meetings—ABNS had to cancel its planned Forum.

About a hundred members attended the Annual Business Meeting and cast their ballots for the Officers and Board Of Governors members who will serve in the coming year. Because of the resignation of Pres.-Elect Val Mogensen, Ray Reinoehl was elected as President for this year's term and "Mac" McClaflin as Pres.-Elect to serve in 1977. Dick Lebold (Vice Pres.), Carol Linn (Cor. Sec'y), Alvina Fontaine (Rec. Sec'y), Walter Snyder (Treas.), and Leonora Donald (Historian) are the other elected officers. Nate Bromberg, Paul Borack, Nona Moore, George Price, "Mac" Mc Innis, and Elizabeth Wisslead are the elected Governors, to be joined by Ex-Officio Governor Dr. Sol Taylor, Immediate Past Pres.

This intrepid band was sworn into office in what must have been the speediest installation ceremony on record at the Banquet. Honors and awards were announced and presented to those elected, selected, and collected. Past Pres. Tom Wood joined in the illustrious procession of winners of the Richard P. Goodson Award. The Karl M. Brainard Literary Awards went to Duffy Waldorf, Dr. Sol Taylor, and Dick Trowbridge (first, second, and third place winners, respectively). The newly-renamed Maurice M. Gould Jr. Achievement Award was also won by Duffy Waldorf. The President's Trophy went to The Azteca Numismatic Society's bulletin "Plus Ultra" edited in 1975 by Betty Brander). Carol Linn walked away with the Membership Drive award again this year.

Special mention was made of four dealers who have had bourse tables at each of the 21 NASC Conventions to date — Abner Kreisberg, Kenneth W. Lee, Jack Seeler, and Norman Shultz.

A complete list of the exhibit award winners follows below.

PROPOSAL FOR THE ULTIMATE COIN CERTIFICATION

by Mel Wacks, NLG

In my recent talk before the second annual Dealer-Collector Forum, sponsored by the Numismatic Association of Southern California, I proposed a revolutionary new concept for packaging and certifying rare coins. While I spoke of this advance as taking place in the future, upon further reflection I decided that the sooner it happened the better, and so why not now?

ANACS now issues a certificate indicating authenticity as undoubtedly will the ANA grading service now being planned. But there is always possible doubt that any certificate is accompanied by the original coin, or that the coin has been damaged or tampered with in the interim. A photograph helps but not much when it comes to BU or Proof 20th Century coins.

The only complete solution is to permanently seal the coin and its authentication and grading certificates in a tamper-proof package. For the sake of argument I propose the following 4" x 6" (index-card-size) packaging:

The package would be clear on both sides, and would be permanently heat-sealed. The coin would be clearly visible, and even the edge could be examined. It would also be protected from damage or tampering. The only portion of the package that could be modified is a 2 x 2 card that the various owners-collectors or dealers - could use for their standard information including inventory control numbers, price, etc.

True, this packaging would make for bulkier dealers' stock and would take more room in collectors' safe deposit boxes but just think of the vast time saved in not having to worry about grading or authenticity.

This technique would truly professionalize the coin industry. In this day and age where virtually every serious coin purchase is a major investment, we must come up with a hobby-wide standard of certified coins. As I indicated in my NASC talk, in the future a collector would probably just as soon purchase a non-certified coin as he would today buy a share of stock from someone on a street corner.

The biggest problem would be the method of implementation. A collector or dealer would want to initially ship all of his coins valued at over $1,000, or $500, or what-have-you, to the central ANA certifying and grading service. If at all possible a reduced fee should be charged for large quantities of coins sent at one time by a collector or dealer.

Because of the tremendous quantities of material that would require this service, perhaps a schedule could be established whereas only those whose last name starts with certain letters of the alphabet could send in their coins during initial prescribed periods.

Sure, a few percent would have to be added to the price of each fully certified coin to take care of the fee, but the resultant savings in future errors will make this a bargain.

Holders for the new standard certified coin packaging would look pretty much like currency holders that now are manufactured.

Such certified packaging will solve virtually all of the problems currently disturbing collectors and dealers alike. And the time to implement it is now!

I hope that the ANA can seriously take this proposal into consideration.

BOOK REVIEW

by the Editor

I have received a copy of a facsimile reprint edition of "Nociones Elementales De Numismatica" by Don Jose Gomez de la Cortina. This work was originally published in Mexico City in 1843. The current edition has been published by the Academia Mexicana De Estudios Numismaticos.

My meager knowledge of the Spanish language probably doesn't do justice to a review of this book, but it appears to be a well-executed effort to return one of the early Spanish-language reference works to the bookshelves of modern numismatists. The facsimile printing is clear and easily read and the content appears to be (as its title suggests) a discussion of the basic elements of numismatics as it was studied (and practiced) in Spanish America in the early portion of the 19th century.

Copies of the book are probably available through some dealers by now, or they may be ordered from:
